LOCATION

Stirling is a city in central Scotland. Stirling is a centre for local government, higher education, tourism, retail, and industry. The 2011 census recorded the population of the city as 45,750; the wider Stirling council area has a population of about 91,000. The City is reputed to be the third fastest growing area of Scotland in terms of population.

A major new regeneration project on the site of the former port area and the former Ministry of Defence site, adjacent to Stirling Railway Station, is currently underway. Known as Forthside, it has the aim of developing a new waterfront district linked to the railway station via a new pedestrian bridge.

Stirling is well located in central Scotland being almost equidistant between Glasgow, Edinburgh and Perth. The city benefits from good transport links to include a mainline railway, bus depot and easy access onto the Motorway network.

The subjects are ideally located within Castle Business Park in close proximity to the M9 motorway.

DESCRIPTION

Lomond Court comprises an attractive two storey modern office block surrounding a central courtyard, and forms part of the wider Castle Business Park. The park has excellent transport connections to Stirling City Centre via direct bus routes and cycle paths. Castle Business Park provides pleasant working environment with on site security and leisure amenities.

The available office suites are located on the first floor within the business centre with disabled access via a lift. The business centre benefits from a manned reception, high speed internet, meeting space, communal w.c and kitchen facilities. All office suites are wired for IT and telephone connectivity and are available for immediate occupation. Each suite has recently been refurbished offering a modern professional workspace. The building benefits from free private parking and access to the central courtyard. Shower and bike storage facilities are also located within the building.
