WORK LIFE BALANCED

The average person spends over 90,000 hours of their life at work. We want to help make those hours enjoyable

Unhealthy and unconducive working environments can lead to a plethora of problems, including rising stress levels, weight gain, and reduced mobility in the office, all of which can contribute to higher rates of absenteeism. To avoid such conduct, Park Row has been re-designed with built-in leisure facilities, and workplace wellbeing at its core.

The lower ground floor offers access to a sleek, high-spec Gym / Fitness Studio, coupled with showering and changing facilities, and cycle storage, to ensure residents can stay content, active and motivated during the working day.
